Full job description

Are you an accomplished recruiter with leadership experience and passionate about developing others? Are you passionate about people, ambitious to succeed and still motivated by goals and driving business outcomes; and want to work for the market leader? Team management opportunities exist across our NSW business, which include the CBD, Parramatta and multiple suburban office locations.

Working as a Team Manager at Hays gives you to opportunity to manage not only your own client portfolio, but also impact success and growth across the entire business using your exceptional leadership and development skills and experience.

To be successful you'll already have a successful career in recruitment, perhaps in IT, Marketing, Professional or Financial Service or other specialist arena and be able to demonstrate exceptional business development and relationship management qualities. Your previous recruitment experience will be working in a client facing role, and you'll already have strong commercial acumen, negotiation skills and a genuine ability to build business. You'll already be a highly networked expert in your sector and have strong industry relationships, already representing your team or business with industry / professional bodies and initiating and executing client and industry event effectively.

You'll also be able to demonstrate your success in developing others to reach their potential and have a genuine passion for accelerating careers through coaching, training and mentorship. At Hays we have a meritocratic culture where career progression is based on success and we offer you a clear and rewarding career structures to you as a manager and for your team. As Team Manager you will have clear pathway to Manager; we are committed to developing you through both structured training and innovative development programs designed specifically for you as a member of the leadership team. We operate in 34 countries so if the opportunity to live and work overseas is on your list, you can be part of our Global mobility program, based on performance of course! Our employee benefits package includes a wellness and flexible working program ensuring a balanced, healthy and happy work place.
